Chapter Four

The landscape was vast, seemingly endless in its scope, a vast mosaic of landscapes unfolds under an artificial sky of cotton candy clouds, their fluffy, pink and blue tufts casting a soft, sugary glow upon the world below. Rivers of chocolate, dark and glossy, carve their way through fields of vibrant, green apple liquorice grass, the blades so finely spun they shimmer in the ambient light. Mountains of colossal, multi-coloured jawbreakers pierce the sky, their stratified, crystalline peaks glinting with a rainbow of hardened sugar. Forests of towering lollipop trees, their spiralled, translucent canopies of cherry, lime, and orange, form a sticky, sweet-smelling woodland, while the forest floor is a soft, yielding carpet of powdered-sugar snow. Paths of perfectly placed, glistening gummy bears in every conceivable colour wind their way through valleys of creamy, white chocolate, and past bubbling springs of fizzy, effervescent soda. The air itself is thick with the intoxicating aroma of vanilla, caramel, and a thousand other sweet concoctions, a constant, delicious reminder that in this land, everything is a treat for the senses.

I had never explored this far into the world, with each long stride from my gigantic form I was going further than even I thought existed down here. It really was endless, and it smelled so nice, I took swipes out of the landscape and ate as I continued to flee deeper into the world, not wanting the forces to catch me.

I felt boundless, I had unlimited energy, I was as if my body was oozing power with each bite of the candy I consumed. Whilst walking I couldn't really tell but once I stopped I realised I had grown some more. My stomach was bigger, and it was visibly moving from the hunger cramps I was feeling.

It appears that my growth isn't really slowing...

I was in awe at the scope of this underground world and that is when I saw it.

A massive body of liquid chocolate, despite my massive size, was huge. At nearly 100 ft tall, I could've laid across it and easily been lost in the thick sweet sugary liquid. I was compelled to walk over to it, I needed to taste it, the dark and glossy look to the mostly still surface of the lake was drawing me in like a siren's song.

It looks... So good...

*GGGRRRRRRRRRR***

I was absentmindedly rubbing my groaning belly, I knew what it wanted, what I wanted. I walked towards the gigantic lake and dipped a finger into the velvety contents and brought it to my mouth.

My eyes nearly popped out of my skull, the taste was overwhelming, it was somehow even better than anything else I had tasted. The flavour covered my mouth, smothering every tastebud. I was in heaven.

It didn't last.

My greedy maw swallowed the amazing tasting sample and without even thinking, instinct alone, I threw my hand into the lake and scooped up a huge handful of chocolate, it dripped from my hand, covering the floor and my body as I drank from the cupped serving of chocolate. My mouth didn't know how to handle the explosion of taste and flavour, other than to keep drinking.

Another handful, this time faster.

Not fast enough.

I started scooping into my mouth and swallowing rapidly, my hands were completely covered in chocolate, my massive body looked like it had been caught in a rainstorm of chocolate.

I knew this wasn't enough, there was no straw nearby, there was nothing to use. I stood up, I almost felt physical pain from leaving the chocolate, but it wouldn't last as I took a step into the lake. My legs sank into the lake, it was a lot deeper than I was expecting but due to my size it didn't cover me wholly, it covered about half of my stomach.

The sight must've been extraordinary, a chocolate lake with a giant fat stomach breaching the surface. I lowered myself further down, sitting on the floor of the lake, my head barely remaining above the surface.

It was perfect.

I dipped my mouth into the chocolate and started to slurp directly from the lake. The direct contact to the lake was electrifying. Each large gulp I could feel the unbelievable sensation of the decadent taste wash over me. I was in heaven. It tasted like dreams, rainbows and everything good in my life all rolled up into one mouthful of chocolatey flavour. Luckily for me there was plenty more than just one gulp.

I was too lost in the sensation to even attempt to count how many gulps there were. I just continued to drink and swallow. I didn't notice the lake was slowly lowering with each passing second, I failed to notice the large armed force response unit approaching the lake once again.

Every minute I was in the lake, more of my chocolate covered body was being revealed into the air. My belly had grown substantially once again, far surpassing the size I was after my last feeding frenzy. The boulder attached to my body wobbled with the contents inside, yet I did not yield. Lower and lower I had to move my mouth to keep my lips against the surface of the liquid chocolate.

“Emma!” the loud shrill voice of that fat bitch pierced my ears.

I gave one last suck, and my mouth made contact with the bottom of the lake, a sweet delicious biscuit base in itself. I could've eaten that too, but I had something I needed to deal with.

I lifted myself, it took a lot of strength, something I did possess now. My stomach blocked almost my whole view. I was standing now in the empty lake, and I was almost eye level with the forces. I could clearly see how many there were, they were all armed to the teeth with their rifles pointed at me. My belly covered a great distance from my torso towards the edge of the lake, if I took a step I could easily have bulged my stomach over the lip and any more force and I am sure if my stomach was malleable enough I could've flattened them all. I was huge, massive and gargantuan all rolled into one. However, I hadn't grown but I could feel it building within.

Only a matter of time...

I flexed my fingers feeling the tingling starting there.

"You need to stop!" The obese woman barked from the tank. "You're getting too big; you need to come with us."

Come with us?, and get locked away?

"No... I don't think I will..." I felt the pressure building once again.

"Emma. Now you listen here, your father."

"DON'T TALK ABOUT MY FATHER YOU BITCH!" I screamed, I saw a bunch of the soldiers below cover their ears, apparently my voice carried that much force. "Leave me the FUCK alone!"

I held my anger to just my words but when I saw the explosion from the end of her turret I feared the worst, out of instinct I leaned forward, my stomach bulging upward against the side of the lake, the huge swell rising high above the edge and blocking line of sight to my face, I braced for impact.
