The morning sun shone upon Jaylin as she hummed to herself, making her way to Madison's apartment. Wearing a brown sweater and loose jeans, she walked with a pair of white and black sneakers. On her backpack, she carried the most important treasure, the magic book that started it all. Bernie wanted answers, and Jaylin was compelled to give them to the two girlfriends.

Shame, she figured this whole thing could drag on for a while longer, thinking of all the fun mischief to be had with those two knuckleheads being oblivious as to what happened that night. Jaylin had a lot of ideas on what to do with the book, ways she could show off, events to rig with magic, people who could use a bit of a 'boost'.

The possibilities were endless, and she wanted to play with them all.

Was she being selfish, wanting her friends to be locked out of the loop for this? Yes, she was. She made no excuse about it. That's just who she was. She wanted to have her fun with the greatest toy in history, and didn't want Bernie and Maddie to be the angels on her shoulders. She was a devil all the way, baby.

Was she getting a god-complex from all this? Yeah possibly.

But maybe it'd do her well to share it with her friends, so they could all have fun together.

Jaylin walked up the stairwell until reaching Madison's apartment door. She used her copy of the key to unlock it and walk inside. "It's me," She called out, making herself known. Even from the entrance, she could tell a tornado had traversed the apartment, with all the broken and tumbled over furniture, the scattered books, the shattered décor. This place looked like a repeat of that night in the library. Shame she missed such an erotic show.

Closing the door behind her, she was met by Bernadette wearing a bathrobe. Her orange hair was frazzled, and she wasn't wearing her glasses. Jaylin wagered she didn't need them, much like she didn't need her own anymore.

"Good, you're here." The young woman said with a harried tone. "Listen, you must know what happened to us that other night. You were acting weird in the library, and when I texted you..."

She let out a shuddering breath, running a hand over her face. "Please, Jaylin, what is going on?"

Yeesh, she didn't know this was affecting her that much.

"Alright," She raised a hand placatingly while dropping her backpack over the breakfast table. "But you might wanna wake up Maddie for this."

As if on cue, a loud, shrill cry that could only belong to the blond, reverberated throughout the apartment. Bernadette blushed and cupped her cheek in embarrassment as her girlfriend came out running from the hall, completely naked, bereft of muscles.

"What happened to my apartment?! Why is everything broken?!" Madison hyperventilated as she looked at the whole mess. "And why is Jaylin here?!"

"Why are you naked?" Jaylin dryly shot back.

It suddenly dawned on the blonde that she was, in fact, naked as her friend pointed out.

She screeched once more, trying to cover herself. "Waaaah!" She ran back to her bedroom.

"Is this gonna be like this all the time?" Bernadette muttered with a tired drawl.

"Don't worry, I have all the answers for you two right here." She opened her bag and pulled out the mystical grimoire.

Bernadette's eyes lit up in recognition as memories awoke. "That book... I've seen it before, that's the book that...!"

"Yup," Jaylin gave her a Cheshire grin. "You won't believe what this baby can do."

A few moments later, Madison emerged once more, wearing a tank top and a pair of shorts. She blushed as she approached her girlfriend, looking at her robe-clad form. "So, are you too..."

Bernie blushed. "I didn't want to take your clothing..."

"Oh, honey, you know you can use anything here; it's our things."

The look Bernadette gave her was positively tooth-rotting, and Jaylin could already see this would develop into another sappy session between the two with how close they were getting.

A loud banging made the two yelp and jump back. Jaylin looked at them with a deadpanning glance as she repeatedly banged the book over the table. "Alright, keep it in your pants, you two. Much as I'd love a good show right now, we'll have to put a pin on it until we get this sorted out."

She drummed her fingers over the book's thick cover.

"Now, you two saw this book the other night. Remember?"

"I... yes," Madison said with surprise, blinking repeatedly as the memories kept coming back. "That book, that thing made Bernie grow!" She pointed at the tome with a trembling finger. "It made me grow as well!"

"And then you two got so horny you proceeded to fuck like there was no tomorrow." Jaylin helpfully informed with an all-too smarmy grin.

The two blushed tomato red. "You... You saw us?" Bernadette meekly muttered.

"I was in the security room, of course, I saw it. I saw everything." She shuddered as the mental images still had a strong effect on her. "And it was so fucking hot."

"Ugh, you fricking voyeur!" The blonde cried out, feeling even more exposed than before. "You saw us had sex and-and just touched yourself?!"

Jaylin shrugged. "Yeah"

“Jaylin!” Bernie was aghast. “We’re friends, h-h-how could you-?!”

“The same way you two got so turned on, you decided to fuck right then and there in the library.” Her reply stunned them both. “This book, this amazing thing,” She trailed her fingertips over the cover. “It turned us into something utterly incredible. Things beyond human power, beyond human nature. And we’re only just now starting to find what we’re all capable of.”

She must be sounding like one of those comic book villains that Madison loved so much.

“Look, just look!” Jaylin snapped her fingers and channeled the power from the book, its red gem shining lightly as the room around them came alive.

Furniture righted itself, ceramics and other decorations mended together as though they never broke in the first place. Books flew like in a scene from a children’s fantasy movie, going back to their place on the shelves.

The torn remnants of two outfits were pieced together seamlessly and landed on the couch neatly folded.

The two girlfriends watched with awe as they saw this all happen in real time.

“You did this...?”

“With help from the book,” Jaylin grinned. “It’s magic, it’s pure magic. It has energy inside, sooo much energy. I just learned to borrow it, do whatever I like,” She wiggled her fingers, intentionally making sparkles float between them.

Her grin widened, showing all her teeth.

“And like you two, I learned that particular trick.”

She channeled the magic insider through every vein and every fiber, spreading in her nerves like wildfire and filling her being with power and pleasure.

“Mmm, ahhh,” She moaned, throwing her head back as her entire figure began swelling. It was first visible in her height, how she kept growing taller while her clothes remained the same. The muscles in her neck and throat flexed, becoming more defined.

The two girlfriends stared with astonishment as their friend experienced the same type of transformation the two had gone through before, and it was just as shocking and awe-inspiring to see her as it was to experience it themselves. The way her body filled out, booming with increasingly wider proportions and burgeoning muscles, made their cheeks flush as a familiar heat settled in their bellies.

“Ohh-hh-hh,” Jaylin let out a shuddering breath with a crooked smile, taking off her glass with a trembling hand and throwing it away. “I never get tired of this part,” She looked at the arm with which she had thrown the glasses and stared at it, observing how the muscles swelled, and the sweater sleeves tightened around it. “Always feels so...”

The arm inflated more and more, and the sounds of thread snapping were heard, getting louder each second, until a fuzzy tear opened over the middle of the sleeve, revealing the growing mound of muscle that was her bicep.

“Invigorating,” She said with manic glee.

She kept flexing her arm repeatedly, making the muscles grow further with each repetition. The forearms widened impressively, further ripping the woolly material as the bicep kept spreading the large tear until the full muscle was on display. Striations deepened into the skin as small veins began to rise to the surface.

“I like to take it slow,” She chuckled huskily, enjoying the way her shoulder bunched up and began ripping more of the sleeve. “It feels like being with a lover who really knows how to use their tongue...”

Bernadette gulped, knowing exactly what she was talking about. She had felt that way during her growth, and the intensity... it was unreal.

“Though sometimes,” With a more violent flex, she raised her other arm and started ripping the sleeve there faster. “I like to get rough with it.”

Her quivering legs bloomed with fantastic amounts of mass, filling out the jeans to the point they became skintight, highlighting every single nook and cranny of the musculature. From the rising cord-like vastus to the widening calves. Her shoes looked painfully tight as they had no room left for her growing feet.

With a loud rip, her toes burst out. Laces snapped, and the tongue was torn apart. “Hng!” She grunted as the jeans’ threads couldn’t take it anymore. Large openings connected by thin straps and threads unveiled her shredded thighs, widening all the more as the muscles kept getting bigger. Her heart-shaped calves swelled outward with outstanding definition, widening past her shins and tearing the fabric like wet paper. Jalyin’s legs were brushing together from the enormity of her thighs, further stoking the fire in her crotch.

“Ohhhh, yeeees,” She growled gutturally, strong fingers grabbed the sweater over her midsection and pulled it apart, revealing her sweltering abs that were jutting out from her core. “Mmmm, so fucking good,” She moaned as she traced her fingers over them, clearing out the fuzz still stuck to her wet skin. “Oh, can’t forget about the girls.”

As if on cue, her breasts ballooned out. Tearing the sweater down the middle and revealing her underwear. This one was so tight it looked like floss barely holding together her ample breasts, much less her expanding torso’s swelling muscles. Two strong, slab-like pectorals formed above her breasts, supporting their weight without the need for a bra. The muscles ground together with a jagged line of definition settling between them; a single twitch was all they needed to make the breasts bounce and snap the bra. Her naked breasts hung proudly higher than before, bullet-hard nipples stiffening with the air.

“Fuck” She hissed with an euphoric smile. “Keep watching, girls... here, hgn! Here comes the best part!”

Her entire body’s expansion seemed to speed up, growing faster and faster as her muscles swelled to incredibly proportions, beyond what was normal for a human and ascending into the truly fantastical realm. She grew so tall that Bernie and Maddie had to crane up their necks, and she just kept going.

“Hah, hahaha!” She laughed, drunk on her power and mass. “Oh yes, oh my fuck yes!” She reveled in the euphoria and pleasure. “It never stops feeling this good, like I’m cuming a dozen times at once!”

She raised her hands, and almost touching the ceiling, before bringing them down into a massive, most muscular that forced the remnants of her clothes to be propelled from her body in one last surge of tremendous growth. She howled in pleasure as her eyes rolled up as she climaxed, her naked body became a staggeringly magnificent and womanly figure of truly superb muscles and sensual allure. Rivaling women from the comic book industry, only someone from fiction could get that superhumanly big.

Jaylin stood there panting, holding the pose that made her muscles bulge out beautifully and throb with hungry veins. All the while, her friends stared at her, slack-jawed with more than a little arousal.

Jaylin looked down at them from her statuesque height, the crooked smile on her lips promising untold levels of debauchery. Her thorax, brimming with muscles, flared and contracted with each breath. Her size was simply staggering, unreal in its proportions; she was so large she could burst her head through the ceiling were she to grow just a couple more feet.

“Cat got your tongue, girls?” She muttered huskily, her voice encompassing the whole room, somehow booming despite holding her delicate female tone. “Is it too much to see what you can become?” She flexed her legs, her abs, her stomach, and her chest, showcasing every fibrous muscle group that jumped into prominence.

“Oh my god...” Bernadette said breathlessly. The faint memories she had of the library, of the amazon she became... Jaylin looked like she was twice that size.

“This book is amazing, it can let us do anything.” Their friend boasted as her body began changing once more. Her hair blanched until it became a shining silver, glittering like precious stones. Marks of a tribalistic nature appeared over her naked body, making her look like a primal goddess. “We change ourselves, we can change the world to whatever we want to!” She said excitedly as a lot of things around Madison’s apartment seemed to shrink and grow, while also changing the material composition, turning from wood to stone to a shining gold, and then turning back. “I haven’t even begun to truly explore what we can do this this, but once we do... well, I don’t wanna use the word ‘goddess’ slightly, but I believe it’s very accurate.”

“Jay,” Maddie slowly said with apprehension. “Are you... okay? You sound weird.”

“Well, of course I do, all the power is getting to my head!”

“At least she’s self-aware?” Bernadette muttered in disbelief.

“Don’t you worry, you two are still my favorite gals. Whenever I start getting worshippers, I’ll share them with you.”

Then, with a pop, in an almost comical twist, Jaylin returned to normal. Her size shrank instantly, and her clothes repaired themselves over her frame. “Whoops,” She grabbed her glasses. “Eyesight goes bad when you shrink again.” She giggled.

The girls needed a moment to truly process all this.

Madison slowly reached out to the book, holding it in her hands and observing every detail of its cover, from the magical gem to the corners. And then flipped through the pages, finding them empty. “What is this thing?” She muttered in bewilderment. “Who made it? How? Why?”

“As far as I can tell, the book’s been around for a very, very long time,” Jaylin explained, leaning forward on the table. “Magic’s real, and it’s neat.”

“How do you know that?” Bernie asked.

“The book’s magic answered my questions when I asked it. It taught me to use magic because I asked it. I think it reacts to what we desire, but if you know how to pull out its magic, it can do far more.”

“Why did it make me grow then?” The orange-haired girl questioned. “When I was meeting Maddie, I wanted to be more confident, not turn into a huge amazon.”

“Is that what you really asked?” Jaylin asked for clarification. “How did you word it specifically?”

“I...” Bernadette thought about it for a moment. “Well, I wanted to be more confident, stronger in... in every sense again.”

The other two girls ‘ahhh’ed in realization. “So that’s what happened. The book gave you what you wanted, but your own understanding of what you thought you wanted didn’t have a defined goal.” Jaylin theorized. “So, it made you strong in the most obvious senses, and as for confidence, well, you certainly didn’t lack it when Maddie got involved.”

“And I guess...” Maddie awkwardly scratched her cheek. “When Bernie got buff like that, a part of me wanted the same.”

Bernie shuffled her feet awkwardly. “And I think I wanted to see you like that, too.”

“...What do we do with this?” Maddie wondered, her gaze shifting between the other two young women. “We found a physical miracle. T-T-The things we could do with it are limitless! We could help so many people!” Her mind swirled with the possibilities, not knowing what they could use it on first.

“And we will!” Jaylin readily agreed. “Once we take over the country- Kidding!” She raised her hand at the glare her friends gave her.

“Aren’t we getting ahead of ourselves?” Bernie pointed out. “We still don’t know the full range of what this book can do. Jaylin, you said you pulled magic from the book to do all these things right?”

“Yes,”

“Is there a limit? Can you do magic without the book?”

“Sorta?” Jaylin shrugged. “It’s like you can draw energy from the book, and use what you have stored to cast spells. But without the book, it’s much more finite. I haven’t tested it properly, you can run out of fuel if you don’t recharge with the book. Plus, I’m not sure if those changes are permanent or have the same potency. Hmm, how big were you two last night?”

“Not as big as that other night in the library,” Madison clarified, and her eyes widened in realization. “Ohhhhh”

“Okay, so that’s a limit then,” Bernadette slowly nodded. “We should really practice with it more, see how much we can recharge to have a good reserve in our bodies. After that...” She trailed off. “After that, we’ll discuss what to do with our... superpowers, I guess.”

“Like there’s a difference,” Jaylin shrugged.

“Oh, course there’s a-!” Madison took a deep breath before she could go into a geek rant.
“Anyway, I think I know what we could test ourselves.”
