

[https://linktr.ee/
GrowingDesires](https://linktr.ee/GrowingDesires)

1,686 words.

<Long Distance Production>

by <Growing Desires>

Chapter Four

It went on like this for another few days before I finally asked the next question. I was nervous before typing it, I was worried that I had scared her off a few times. It was becoming clear to me that there was more here than I first thought.

Anna was still shy; however, she was more than happy to indulge in my fantasies about her eating. I had been sent more than one food baby since the Mexican lunch but I was still yearning to get a better look at the rest of her body, especially as I felt like she had certainly gained more weight since the one photo I had of her big butt.

We weren't all just sex talk, we often message one another from dawn till dusk. We were connecting and bonding very well, albeit through messages.

You

Hey, I've got a long drive today, I've got to go to a movie studio a town away, I'll be in the car for a few hours. I'm going to miss messaging you. Not sure if you wanted to call?

Anna didn't reply immediately, I could see that she saw the message, but she was leaving me on read.

I knew this might spook her...

I held off messaging her again, I knew she would come back, or at least I hoped very much she would.

Getting ready for the drive, I hopped into the shower and got dressed. The meeting was about a new movie shoot that my company was involved in, there were a lot of moving parts, and it was going to be a stressful day for sure. I wasn't sure how good I might be after a long day like that, that is the biggest reason I wanted to call Anna, so she could get me at my best at the start of the day before work took it out of me.

I sighed and picked up my phone. I hadn't heard it go off but to my surprise there was an unread message.

Anna

Okay, I am about to commute too.

You

Perfect.

I let out a big gasp and grip my fist tightly.

Yes!

With a renewed vigour for the day, I hop out of the house and into my big comfy luxury SUV. The interior was spacious, comfy on my back for the long drive and most importantly, it had the best tech inside. It was self-driving, a feature I rarely used but it was handy in traffic jams. It even had a camera that I could use for conference calls.

I started it up and loaded up the internal computer and sent a message to Anna.

You

I'm just setting off, feel free to call whenever.

I waited for a second to see her read the message and another second before pulling out of the garage to start my day.

I saw a message flash up on the screen and I asked the car to read it aloud.

The female voice assistant read out the message in a pleasant tone. "I'll call you in five minutes, I am just getting into my car."

I felt butterflies in my stomach. We hadn't heard each other's voices before, I was eagerly awaiting her call, I sat there in silence as I drove down the road.

The soothing ringtone of the car usually wouldn't get a reaction from me but today was different.

Catching my breath before it left my body from my gasp, I saw Anna was calling.

"Here we go..." I murmured before taking a deep breath and pressing the answer.

There was an awkward silence from both of us, clearly we had both been fairly shy at this moment.

"Hello Anna." I tried to sound confident and clear, but I think even in my tone it was clear that I was nervous about speaking to Anna.

Why wouldn't I be, she was everything I wanted in a woman, but something I shouldn't really have.

"Hey Alex." Her voice was sweet and caring, a little timid but that was to be expected.

"It's so nice to hear your voice." I said back to her softly, the awkwardness was quickly dissipating from my tone.

"Yeah, it's really nice to hear you, I like your voice very much..." She laughed. "I wondered what I would do if you sounded like a cartoon character or something."

"Ah, shucks, you got me, this is my real voice." I said in the dumbest, southern drawl, high pitched voice I could muster.

The joke was exactly what the conversation called for. We both just laughed for a solid minute before Anna tried to do something similar, but she went Northern instead.

The company in the car was nice, we talked like we would in messages, just about life, about what we were doing. The companionship, if nothing else, was very nice.

Her commute was coming to an end, and I didn't have the resolve not to try doing something maybe I should've held off on.

It's worked so far...

"So... You've told me your day; you've told me what your evening will look like... I think you've missed something important."

"What's that?" Her shy voice returned, she was quiet, and it was so overpowering it almost made me cower back.

I opened my mouth to let the word out but then I heard Anna's voice.

"Food" Her tone was vastly different to her shy and reserved demeanour, the word, no, the topic seemed to give her power.

There was a shifting in my pants, I felt as if she knew it too.

"Is that what you were referring to?" Her voice was low, husky even. "So... I was just going to have a salad, maybe have a meal replacement shake."

The words were the opposite of what I expected and wanted to hear but the tone was still exciting to me. I was about to respond and question the choice when she giggled.

"I'm obviously joking, you think a girl like me could ever have that for a meal?" She let out an exaggerated laugh. "No Alex, I've got a coupon for a delivery app, they give an extra 25% off if I order from more than one place."

She paused, letting it sit in my mind for a few seconds.

"I was thinking maybe ordering from three or four places, they've opened a few new nice-looking places near my office so, why not sample their goods."

I was silent, letting Anna tell me her gluttonous plans.

"First there is a Greek place that just opened up, next door is an Italian place, there is a new Korean place on the other side of town as well as a new place that apparently makes the best chicken wings around." Anna let out a pleased moan. "That sounds really good to me..."

Anna had certainly come out of her shell more since we've been talking and she has been sending me pictures, but this was quite a leap, even for her. She was much more confident than I thought she might be able to muster but it was a pleasant surprise for sure.

"Me too..." I said in a deep voice, almost a growl.

"Do you want to... See?" The confidence wavering slightly.

"See what?" I pressed her for more, trying to keep her in that zone.

"The food..." It didn't work; she was slowly retreating; the temporary powers were fading fast.

I know.

"Sure... But there is something I want to see more than that sweetie..."

"Oh?" I could hear the anticipation in her voice.

"Your belly. Before and after."

"Oh!" She was shocked, taken aback by the comment, had I gone too far?

I now was having cold feet; I started to apologise. "Anna I'm-"
Anna knew what my next word was going to be, so she cut me off.
"I can do that; I'm wearing a blouse today."

The comment seemed odd to me, so I didn't know how to react.

"Easy access to the belly." She replied with her breathy tone.

I thought that would be the end of it, but I had restored her powers now and just to add the cherry on top.

"Plus popping a button or two gives me more room to grow."

I felt a shiver down my back and cock was now throbbing in my pants.

"Shit..." I moaned.

"Oh!" Anna let out a gasp. Clearly unaware of the influence her words had over me. "I'm just pulling into my car park... Got to go. Bye Alex."

"Bye Anna... Enjoy your lunch."

She hung up, a bit abruptly.

Probably shy...

I didn't want to let my thoughts linger on that part of the exchange, especially when the rest of it was so fun. My thoughts trailed off as I tapped the auto drive. I wondered about what I would be able to see when I picked my phone up at the end of the day, I knew perfectly well that I was not in a position to be able to stop for lunch and open that message at work.

There was a ping, a message from Anna.

Anna

Sorry... Umm... I've... Never had that reaction before...

You

Did I make you uncomfortable?

Anna

No... Quite the opposite... I have never felt power like that before...

It felt good...

Really good...

Oh hey... Here is the before.

Anna sent through a picture of herself, the angle was a side on shot of her in the car. Her body was close to the wheel, but I could see her boobs and belly quite clearly, the tops of her thick thighs barely visible in the bottom of the frame. She looked quite thin like this, I suspected she was sucking in her belly and in a loose blouse it just made her look even slimmer. Her smile was dazzling, and her beautiful eyes were something I could've stared at all day thanks to my car driving itself. Anna's cheeks look rosy, there was a flushed look about her.

I guess she got worked up too.